

Being Animals

In this enchanted wildlife camp for little explorers, we will magically turn into a different local animal each afternoon. We will read and tell stories, play movement games, and find friends, food, and homes as our animals. Finally, we will go off in search of our fellow creatures! If your young child loves being in nature, they will find something to enjoy at this camp. Our staff understand that every child's introduction to the natural world is different, and we build a culture at our camp that allows for them to be themselves, and pursue what interests them. We anticipate this camp being fully outdoors except in the case of dangerous weather conditions. Please note: this class has a minimum enrollment number of 6 students and a maximum capacity of 15 students.
